Inheritance Tax Case Disclosures Stir Lake County

Expose by Antioch News Spurs Further Investigation

So amazing and unbelievable was the disclosure made exclusively by the Antioch News last week that County Judge Perry L. Persons, with the assistance of Attorney General George F. Barrett and his Lake county assistant, Harold J. Tallett, had made it possible for Republican precinct committeemen to collect fees for investigation of inheritance tax cases, that the Chicago Sun sent its own reporter into Lake county to check the truth of the report.

Meanwhile reactions to the disclosures among the beneficiaries of Judge Perry L. Persons' liberality were varied.

Wife Says "Give, Brother"

The wife of one of the "experts" who had fared quite well in the matter of fees, did not know of her husband's good fortune until she read about it in the Antioch News. She then sought out her spouse and demanded an accounting of the extra family income.

Two committeemen in one township, both friendly to the Persons-Barrett faction, who it is reported were supposed to share-and-share-alike in fees granted in inheritance tax cases, now are not so friendly. The committeeman who got the job forgot to divvy up with his friend. He, too, was called for an accounting, and incidentally, 50 per cent of the fee he had collected.

Seek Legal Advice

According to information reaching the News, at least three of those receiving fees as appraisers hurried to their attorneys for advice regarding the possibility of their having to refund the money they had been paid.

The Chicago Sun in a front page story Sunday explained how Attorney General Barrett and his Lake county assistant, Harold J. Tallett came into the Lake county inheritance tax cases.

When an estate is filed for probate a detailed inventory of the assets and liabilities is in the file. The attorney general has the right to file an objection to the valuation of the assets. The state tax is based on the valuation of the estate and the theory is that the attorney general may be able to increase the listed valuation and the tax.

The attorney general, or, in this case, Tallett, as his assistant, has the right to call upon expert appraisers to check the valuations. The court may order that fees not exceeding 10 per cent of the tax assessed be paid to the appraisers out of the taxes.

Judge Ignores Law

Although the News in its expose indicated that the awarding of fees in Judge Persons' court had been directed for political purposes, no violation of the statute was charged. However, the investigation reveals that in some instances fees in excess of the 10 per cent statutory limit were allowed by the court.

It will be noted, too, that fees for appraisers are limited to $300, computed at the rate of $10 a day for 30 days, and that the only other costs permitted under the law is "necessary traveling expense." The court has yet to explain why he allowed costs exceeding $900 in one case for items listed other than necessary traveling expenses, including "office rental, stenographer hire, postage, telephone, etc."

Here's the Law

Sect. 385, Chap. 120, Revenue Act Illinois Statutes 1941:

"It shall be the duty of the county judge to ascertain whether any transfer of any property be subject to an inheritance tax under the provisions of this act, and if it be subject to such inheritance tax, to assess and fix the then cash value of all estates, annuities and life estates or terms of years growing out of said estates and the tax to which the same is liable. . . . When the evidence is taken by an appraiser, he shall make a report thereof and of such value in writing to said county judge, with the depositions of the witnesses examined and such other facts in relation thereto and to said matters as said county judge may by order require. . . .

Out of the funds he may have in his hands on account of the inheritance tax collected in an estate the County Treasurer shall pay on the Certificate of the County Judge, such Compensation as such Judge may deem just for the service rendered by an appraiser, in case an appraiser shall have been appointed in such estate. Not to exceed ten dollars ($10.00) per day for each day actually and necessarily employed in such appraisement, AND NOT TO EXCEED ten per cent (10%) of the aggregate amount of tax levied and assessed by the County Judge AND IN NO CASE shall such appraiser receive less than ten dollars

Antioch Sequoits --- Northwest Conference Football Champions

Plan 9th Annual Jamboree For School Children

Will Be Guests at Antioch Theatre on Halloween; Award Prizes

Antioch youngsters of the grade school and pre-school age will enjoy their ninth annual Halloween "Jamboree" again this year, Principal Ralph E. Clabaugh of the grade school announced today.

A costume parade will start from the grade school at 6:30 o'clock Friday, October 30th, with the line of march up Main street to the Antioch theatre on Lake street.

All children who are costumed and masked will be admitted free of charge through the courtesy of F. B. Swanson, theatre manager.

The feature picture will be Humphrey Bogart in "Big Shot" and will be preceded by some appropriate shorts.

There will be valuable prizes awarded to winners, according to H. A. Smith of the First National bank and chairman of festivities. Mr. Smith has selected a committee who will judge the winners and award prizes donated through the Lions club.

Prizes will be awarded by classes, beginning with the pre-school children, then primary and up through the eighth grade.

This will be the ninth "Jamboree" which originated in 1934 and first sponsored by F. B. Swanson, owner-manager of the theatre and the Antioch News. The business men of Antioch assisted in donations of prizes from the start. This feature in recent years has been taken over by the Lions club.

GRIDIRON DINNER SET FOR NOVEMBER 20

Antioch Lions Club to Sponsor Banquet for Conference Champions

The Antioch Township High school football team, twice champions of the Northwest conference of high schools, together with their coach, C. A. Wolfenbarger, will be guests of honor at the testimonial dinner to be given Friday night, Nov. 20, under the sponsorship of the Antioch Lions club. Plans were completed Monday night after the Lions had enjoyed a fine duck dinner at Bob Hardman's off Lake resort. Dr. William Gay was named chairman of the dinner committee.

The Lions club as usual will provide prizes to be awarded to the children at the Halloween jamboree tomorrow night at the Antioch Theatre. H. A. Smith is chairman of the committee.

It was voted to increase the membership limit of the club to 50 members, and two were accepted as members—James Alford, of King's Drug store, and Dr. Frank Keefe, Antioch optometrist.

YOUTH CLEARED OF SUSPICION OF THEFT

Arrest of another man for robbery in Winnebago county last week resulted in the release and clearing of suspicion of John Morgan, Antioch youth, who was sought for questioning in the robbery of a farm home near Rockford, it was declared by relatives of the youth here this week.

Morgan, who moved to the Antioch district from Rockford with his foster-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Malm, on October 1, was involved as a suspect. Shortly after he had visited his old home near Rockford to obtain some skates he had left there, the occupants discovered that a purse containing $63 and a $25 defense bond was missing.

Deputy Sheriff's Geo. Palmieri and Robert Jenkins, assigned to seek out Morgan at his home in this county, were unable to locate him or his parents on the first day of their search. They located the family later, but in the meantime the youth, hearing that he was under suspicion, had surrendered to Sheriff J. A. Heideman of Winnebago county.

The youth was held in Winnebago county for two days, when the robbery was cleared up by the arrest of another man.

Dr. W. P. Tague, owner of Argyle Farm on Route 173, called at the News office Wednesday, reporting that his health is improved after his two-and-a-half months stay in Wesley hospital in Chicago.

American Legion Compiling Honor Roll For Antioch

Seeks Names of All Service Men Before Dedication of Sign Next Month

Over 1200 cards were mailed this week to families of service men in Antioch and Lake Villa communities by the Antioch American Legion post in an effort to obtain the correct list of all boys in service from these communities. The names are to be printed on a large sign board in the village park where appropriate dedication ceremonies will be held at the unveiling which is being planned for Nov. 11 (Armistice Day).

Lake Villa has already held dedication ceremonies at the unveiling of the Honor Roll for that community. Up until today 76 names appeared on the roll.

The Antioch News mailing list is being used in the compilation, and it will be necessary for relatives to return the cards that have been sent out in order to know which of the men had residence in Antioch community when they entered service.

Held Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the local Legion post and Sons of Legion will be held on November 5, at which time the junior organization will hold election of officers.

Plans for the observance of Armistice day will also be made at this meeting. The high school will be closed on Armistice day, so a short program will be held there on Tuesday afternoon.

On Armistice day the Legion will assemble and march to the village park where a brief program will be held. Open house will be held in the Legion room during the remainder of the day.

The members' committee is pushing its drive to have as many members paid up by Armistice day as possible. They report 70 members thus far.

Commander Heath and Service Officer Moran will report at the Nov. 5 meeting on their trip to the Legion conference held in Chicago last week-end.

MORTENSEN'S HOTEL DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire believed to have originated from defective electric wiring or an overloaded circuit Tuesday afternoon resulted in an estimated $1000 damage to Mortensen's hotel, formerly the Ball hotel. The flames were confined to the roof and attic and were quickly extinguished by the Antioch firemen.

In addition to the damage by fire, water running down through the lower part of the building also resulted in considerable damage to walls and furnishings. The building is owned by C. K. Anderson.

RESCUE SQUAD MAKES 64 CALLS SINCE JANUARY 1

Dance Nov. 30 Will Provide Funds for Needed Equipment

Since the first of the year, the Antioch Rescue squad, with a normal complement of 15 regular and 10 reserve members, has made 64 emergency calls this year, to date, entailing many personal sacrifices.

In order to obtain funds for buying additional equipment needed for increasing activities, especially war emergency needs, the Antioch Rescue squad is sponsoring a dance at the Danish Hall, Friday evening, Nov. 30. Tickets are 25 cents per person.

The Antioch News commends this organization on the splendid and valuable service rendered to the Lakes region and urges readers of this paper and other residents of the community to make this occasion a successful event.

Squad Has Own Quarters

The squad now for the first time since it was organized three years ago is occupying its own quarters in the Webb building. The entire second floor of the building was donated by Mrs. Chase Webb, owner of the building for use by the squad for the duration. There the Rescue squad will find room for housing all portable equipment and will have a place in which to hold their meetings.

Decorating will be done by members; however there remains the problem of furnishings. Squad members announced that they will accept chairs, rugs, a desk or two, lights, davenport, tables and such other articles as may be needed to outfit the new quarters.

Antioch More Fire Conscious, Annual Inspection Shows

Antioch township is becoming more fire-conscious and the entire township is showing a willingness to co-operate in removing fire hazards of all kinds, Fire Chief Lou Van Patten reports following the annual inspection made last week with the help of other fire department members.

Detailed inspection of the business section of the village, also local and rural schools shows a marked improvement over previous years, Chief Van Patten said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Darnaby recently purchased the Earl Pitman home on Victoria street.

G. O. P. Expects Large Vote In Nov. 3 Election

Two Big Rallies Slated for Final Drive in Campaign

Politics throughout the 101 Republican Precincts mounted in activity during the past week and organization plans have been perfected for the final drive of the remaining days of this important campaign. Chairman Wm. M. Marks of the Lake County Central Committee states that a good vote is expected based on the large registration under the new permanent registration act of 1941.

The Lake County Central Committee of the Republican party has gone on record as favoring the proposed amendment that will appear on the November ballot urging all voters to VOTE "Yes." This calls for the eventual removal of the sales tax on food and is of especial interest to the Housewives throughout the County.

Two large Republican rallies have been arranged for this final week. The first will be held at Waukegan on Thursday night, October 29th at 8 p.m. in the Court Room of the Court House. Lake County's own Richard J. Lyons will be the main speaker and his talk will be based on the efforts of the Kelly-Nash Machine's endeavor to crash into Lake County politics through the State and District candidates.

On Friday night, October 30th at Zion Home on Sheridan Road the Benton Township and Zion Township Committeemen will hold a rally with Stephen A. Day and Ralph Church in attendance. Senator Arnold P. Benson a prominent Republican who represents his district in the State is expected to be the main speaker. Senator Benson is the leader of the Republicans in the State Senate and is a power in that body. All of the County Candidates, Perry L. Persons for County Judge; Jay B. Morse for County Clerk; Marthi C. Decker for Probate Judge; Allen J. Nelson for Probate Clerk; Gustaf H. Fredbeck for County Treasurer; Walter L. Alkinson for Sheriff and W. C. Petty for County Superintendent of Schools will be introduced at both meetings. State Representative Nick Keller and Harold D. Kelsey candidates for reelection will also be introduced.

The Republican Headquarters through William D. Whyte, announces that increased interest is aroused for the coming election evidenced by the demand for literature and other information in regard to the issues and candidates of the Republican Party. The Young Republican groups headed by Ray Reardon of Waukegan; the Women's organization headed by Mrs. Roger Vail of Highland Park and the Veterans group headed by Mancel Talcott are very active in the campaign and have held meetings throughout the County all of whom are functioning with their various groups and their individual precinct committeemen. The main issue of this campaign is that "We must preserve our two party system of government under which we have become the greatest nation on earth."

Village will Try Honor System For Halloween Pranksters

Halloween, or All Hallows Eve, falls on Oct. 31, which this year is on Saturday night. Celebrations were originally observed as the eve before All Saints Day when the Christian church was supposed to pay honor to martyrs and other historic personages, which is a far cry from the modern version, many times bordering on hoodlums.

Antics once a year which become destructive, can cause not only local expense and annoyance, but tends to detract from our reputation as a law-abiding community.

Mayor George H. Bartlett and the village trustees have been very tolerant in the past. Warnings have gone unheeded and proved of no avail.

This year, all boys and girls, large or small, are being put on their honor to so conduct their Halloween night activities that there need be no cause for complaint on the part of property owners.

Mayor Bartlett says "Let's have merrymaking and playful ceremonies but no destruction of property or acts of vandalism."

The Royal Neighbors held a regular meeting at the Guild hall Tuesday evening. Cards were played and refreshments served.

Some Gallivant and Others Die

(The Chicago Tribune)

Mrs. Roosevelt made her triumphant entrance into London while Americans were reading disquieting news from across the Pacific. American marines and infantrymen are fighting on Guadalcanal against heavy odds and many of them are dying. As Mrs. Roosevelt was landing in England the Japanese were landing on an island only 30 miles from Tulagi. The navy department has conceded the loss of the cruisers Astoria, Quincy, and Vincennes and of the Australian cruiser Canberra and of several destroyers without inflicting any compensating loss on the enemy. How many men were killed in these engagements has not been revealed.

Hanson Baldwin of the New York Times, who returned recently from a first-hand survey of the Pacific front, says: "Our ships were surprised like sitting ducks; none of them had a chance to get off more than a few ineffectual salvos. They were surprised despite the fact that a report sent by one of our planes of the approach of the Japanese cruisers had been received the afternoon prior to the night action."

Mr. Willkie's world tour was intended to spare him the ignominy of seeing his arch rival in New York win the Republican nomination to the governorship. Mrs. Roosevelt's trip has a similar but even less respectable excuse. The hope is that, there and here, attention will be focused on her and not on the black news from the Solomons. No other explanation of her trip makes sense. Already it is apparent that her progress through the British Isles will consume the time of officials, soldiers, and working men who have no time to waste on such folders.

These joy rides require the use of planes and perhaps of ships as well, which are greatly needed elsewhere.

The equipment which was used by Mr. Willkie and Mrs. Roosevelt is needed in the Solomons to save the lives of our fighting men and the honor of their country. For lack of these planes and ships as reinforcements we may be losing the battle of the Solomons and the marines who died there will have died in vain.

The party in power in Washington has indulged in social climbing to a degree never before seen in our country. The White House has become an asylum for crowned heads. The suspicion will not down that important military decisions have been made with a view of winning favor with these royal visitors, even at the expense of American interests. The social activities of the party in power and its attempts to distract attention from its ghastly military blunders deserve the contempt and repudiation of the American people at the polls.

The Only Panacea

A man who has been a member of one of the principal old-time labor unions for 26 years, and who is now serving in the Army, recently protested some of the current comment on labor. He says that some writers are "poisoning the public mind about organized labor," and observed that the union to which he belongs has called only one strike in more than a generation. That strike was called to obtain the 44-hour week and was won by the union.

This man has a case. But the unfortunate part of the matter is that labor racketeering has cast a dark shadow over the entire labor movement. There are good unions, of course. There are unions which have done the working man and the entire country a tremendous service. There are unions which fully realize their responsibility to the country in war or peace, they have accepted the decisions of official arbitration bodies. But other, irresponsible unions have undone much of this good work. The excesses of a few labor leaders have tarred the entire union movement with the same brush.

The union man in question said he hoped that some one will find "a panacea for the wrong impressions being formed in the public mind about organized labor." The only possible panacea is for all unions, all labor leaders, to live up to the vast public responsibility which confronts them today.

Lloyd Murphy was in San Diego with the Fleet Marine force held antillery for a year after his enlistment, and then was sent to the Hawaiian Islands where he had been stationed until a short time ago. He is at present an artillery instructor at Camp Elliott training center, San Diego. In Hawaii Sgt. Murphy was assistant chief of police for 15 months and confidential motorcycle messenger. Lloyd had nerve testing experience traversing the island during nightly blackouts at 4 in the morning. He is an impressive specimen of Marine, brown after five years of training. REEVES DRUG STORE

Antioch, Ill.

Today the American merchant—from the crossroads store-keeper to the downtown department store executive—finds himself in the front lines of a vital battle.

This year, Americans will spend an estimated 69 billion dollars for goods and services. But how much these dollars will buy—how well the problems of shortages are solved—how government regulations will affect the consumer depend to a large extent on the average retail merchant.

More than any other single group, he is fighting the struggle against the danger of rising prices; he is co-operating by making scarce goods go as far as possible; he is helping his customers adjust their shopping habits to wartime.

As the Office of Price Administration, the War Production Board and other government war agencies issue regulations, America's retailers are adjusting themselves to new and different business methods.

Already, the United States finds itself living in a new shopping world—a world where nearly everything we eat, wear and use is under Price Control. Proof of this can be seen in ceiling prices displayed in the nation's stores either on goods themselves or listed on placards and posters. Those ceiling prices are an indication of the American retailer's part in the battle to hold down our national cost of living and protect the buying power of the American dollar in war time.

The American merchant has another wartime duty, too. That is co-operation with the government in seeing that shortages are distributed to the civilian population fairly and according to the actual needs of each individual. Rationing—be it sugar, gasoline, or anything else—finds the retailer ready to do his part.

Total war has presented other problems, too. And the customer and the storekeeper are learning that co-operation and understanding can go a long way toward solving them. Take the problem of deliveries, for instance. Tires, whether on your car or your storekeepers—are precious. They must be made to last for the duration. America's shoppers are responding by making one shopping trip do the work of two or three—by carrying home bundles themselves—by pooling their cars for shopping trips.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Many of our merchants and others have expressed a desire to send personal greetings through the medium of this newspaper.

Due to the shortage of labor, also the Christmas mail closing date on Nov. 1, for mail to foreign service destinations, it has been impossible to properly cover this phase of the work.

On behalf of the Antioch Post No. 748 American Legion, the business men of Antioch and the Antioch News, may we therefore extend to the Boys in Service our Christmas Greetings with a wish for happy days in the New Year.

Ducks and Mudhens

Waiting for Hunter
Reports reaching the Antioch News indicate a plentiful supply of ducks and mudhens around the Lakes Region. Nimrods were plentiful on opening day, in fact parking places around Grass Lake were filled to capacity.

All indications pointed to a "mass assault" with ammunition selling so fast that local merchants had to limit the quantities until shelves became bare.

A check with Village clerk Roy Murrie discloses a drop of about 25% in the sale of hunting licenses below last year. This drop seems to check with the sale of duck stamps by the postoffice so the mystery lingers on as to what happened to the shells. Could they by any chance be purchased for the rabbits and pheasants or what do you think?

First Concern Of U. of Ill. Is Help Win War

'Education as Usual No Longer Possible,' Says President
A. C. Willard.

In the face of the war, "education as usual" is no longer possible, in the opinion of Dr. Arthur C. Willard, President of the University of Illinois.

"The first concern of the University is to help win the war. Everything else is secondary, even the much talked of long time educational program so essential for making a durable peace."

"A state university should be one of the first institutions to accept this fact, and to adjust its program accordingly," he said, asserting that "no other educational institution in the State of Illinois is faced with a greater responsibility to serve in every possible way to help win this war than is the University of Illinois."

Discussing the University's part in the war effort, President Willard pointed out that "it should be obvious that the University's most effective resources are to be found in the fields of teaching and research. In those areas it has had experience and success. It has a large and competent staff, an extensive and well equipped plant; all of which are now at the disposal of the government for whatever service is most appropriate."

As a specific example, he spoke of the University's Reserve Officers' Training Corps, one of the largest units of its kind in the nation. "Military training," he said, "is one of the obligations of the University of Illinois." Other obligations, he explained, include the adjustment of the program of teaching and research to war needs.

"The University of Illinois has already made a special contribution to the war program of this country through many notable research activities, both past and present," President Willard pointed out. The Engineering Experiment Station is the oldest in the United States and the most active, and the Agricultural Experiment Station is one of the oldest and most active.

"Both independently of, and co-operating with, various departments of the federal government, these stations are making important researches in many fields closely related to the war activity. Of even greater significance in directly aiding the army and navy are the research activities of the departments of physics and chemistry."

"Extension services of the University of Illinois—the Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics, and the Division of University Extension—are playing important parts in promoting war activities throughout the state. The University's radio station, WILL, also has been active in this work."

Why Some People Have Good Teeth Puzzles Scientists

Men with perfect teeth are under observation at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry in Chicago in a research to study tooth decay. The doctors are trying to find out why some people never have dental cavities.

One reason seems to be bacteria, which, it has been proved, are different in the mouths of those fortunate people who maintain perfect teeth. These bacteria appear capable of overcoming cavity-causing microbes.

The millions of mouth bacteria are of many kinds, and the problem of studying them is complex. The answer may even not be in the bacteria; it may be in the enzymes of the mouth, or there may be protective elements in the blood of persons whose teeth do not decay.

The University of Illinois dentists are seeking to find a way to prevent dental cavities through use of mouth rinses or diet control. The rinse problem is to find something that is effective at least eight hours, non-injurious to mouth tissues, but inhibiting to decay.

The diets being tried are low in fermentable foods—refined sugars, pastries, and some cereals. Replacing these are natural sugars of fruits and uncooked starches.

Your PARTY LINE
is helping HIM!

Taking party-line telephone service may not seem to be a contribution to Victory... but it is!

Telephone lines take copper — lots of it — and there's no substitute we can use. Fighting equipment to win this war takes copper, too.

That's why we have not been building more telephone lines for civilian use and why existing facilities must be stretched and shared as far as possible. Party lines instead of individual lines release thousands of tons of vital materials for war uses.

That's why on a party line it is patriotic to be a good "telephone neighbor" to others on the line.

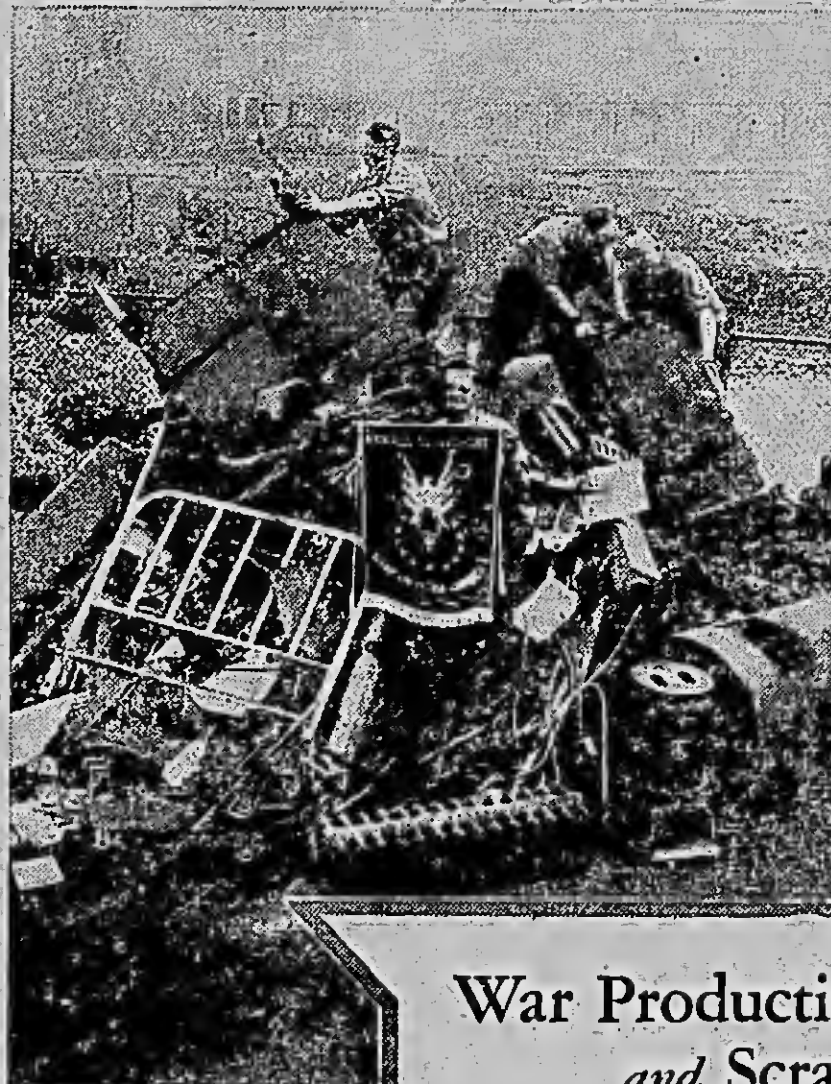

IT'S PATRIOTIC TO BE A PARTY-LINE "GOOD NEIGHBOR"

1. Answer your calls promptly.
2. Make sure the line is not in use before dialing or signaling operator.
3. Avoid interrupting the other party's conversation.
4. Replace receiver promptly after a call.
5. Try not to monopolize the line with long conversations.
6. If you have several calls to make, allow the other party time to make or receive calls between yours.
7. Be neighborly — be brief — and the other party will give you the same consideration.

War Production and Scrap Metal in Northern Illinois

In America's production of tanks, guns, ships and munitions, millions of tons of steel are needed. And to meet this demand, the steel mills in this area alone, must have 200 carloads of scrap metal every day.

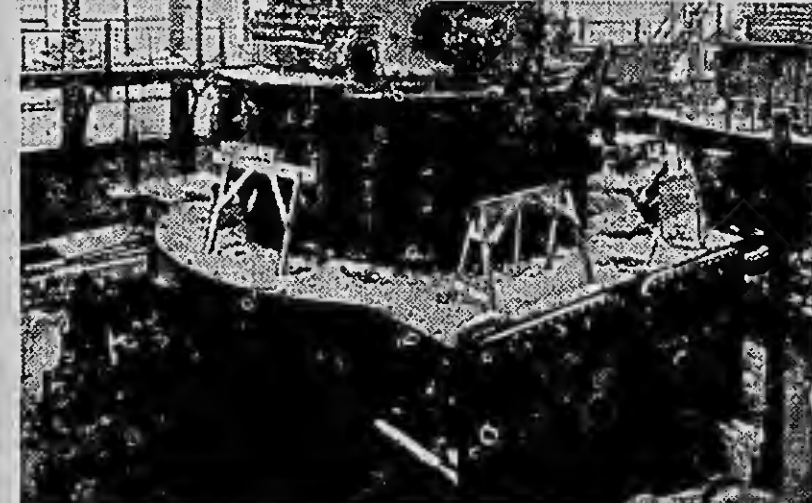

Here is a chance for every patriotic citizen to contribute to victory. The housewife, business man, farmer and industrialist — all can help by salvaging vital scrap metal. A casual look around your premises is not enough. A thorough search is necessary to round up all usable scrap metal. Salvage from your home, office and factory, every piece of unused and obsolete equipment that you have been saving for a rainy day... because that day is here. And you and every loyal American can help the war production program with all the metal scrap you can find.

The photographs reproduced here show how the companies in the electric system supplying Northern Illinois are answering Uncle Sam's call for scrap metal.

GAS TAX REFUND
PAYS COST OF
STREET REPAIR

A bituminous surface treatment has recently been applied to Spafford, Harden, Orchard and Hillside streets. These repairs were made at no extra cost to the property owners on these streets.

The expense is paid out of the Motor Fuel tax fund accumulated by the village through returns from Springfield, Ill. Such gas tax refunds can only be used for road repairs and then only on streets or roads approved by the State Highway department.

In order for a street or road to qualify for repairs from this fund it must be shown to be an arterial street having highway connections and outlets. Unfortunately all streets in the village cannot participate because they do not meet with the conditions set up by the state highway department.

Gasoline Hoarding
Creates Fire Hazards,
State Fire Chief Says

Fire hazards created by storing gasoline and other inflammables were pointed out this week in a letter by State Fire Marshal John H. Craig addressed to all fire chiefs in Illinois. An excerpt from Craig's letter states: "For personal or private use, not to exceed five gallons of crude petroleum, benzine, kerosene, gasoline, naphtha and their compounds may be kept on hand if stored in an approved safety container, remote from flame or open fire. Such storage must not be in any cellar, basement or pit and should be in a room with direct ventilation to the outside and preferably in an outbuilding or garage."

Storage of gasoline not only endangers the lives of occupants of a building or neighboring buildings, but jeopardizes the lives of firemen if they are called to fight a fire on the premises. Furthermore Illinois statutes provide a fine of ten to fifty dollars for violations.

SEEK MECHANICS
HERE FOR ARMY AIR FORCE GROUND CREWS

Mechanically minded Antioch men will have the opportunity for direct enlistment into the Army Air Forces as ground crew specialists on Monday and Tuesday, October 26 and 27, when the Air Forces will launch an intensive two-day drive with headquarters at the Army Recruiting Station, Post Office building, Waukegan.

The local drive, part of a nationwide campaign to recruit 100,000 mechanics and technicians in many other civilian fields, all qualify for direct enlistment under the provisions of the program.

Age limits have been set at 18 and 30, and men with the necessary mechanical experience will be enlisted directly. Physical qualifications have been materially reduced, so that men are now being accepted for limited military service.

Following a short period at the reception center and a replacement training center, recruits will be shipped to Army airfields for on-the-job training as aircraft mechanics, aircraft armorers, aircraft welders and sheetmetal workers, and radio operators and repairmen.

Antioch men enlisting under this program may expect continuation of the Air Force's policy of rapid advancement for qualified mechanics and radio men, according to an Air Force spokesman.
